The Confucius Institute at SDSU announces the 2012 Confucius Institute Chinese Summer Camp Program. This exciting 10-day program will provide a wonderful experience for the students to explore not only the Chinese language, but its rich and beautiful culture as well. There will be a two hour extensive language course daily, in which students will be grouped together based on his/her Mandarin proficiency, one hour of culture related activities consisting of a variety of cultural presentations, and one hour of interaction with native speaking students from China. This interaction opportunity will allow students to practice their Chinese, and to learn first-hand what’s up and current in China from the visiting students.

The program schedules are from July 9-13, 2012 and July 16-20, 2012. A non-refundable fee of $125.00 for both weeks is due at the time of registration with your student’s application form and waiver form. This program is open to students in grades 3-6 who attend Confucius Classroom schools regardless of their Chinese fluency. To ensure the quality of the program, the limited space is set at 25 students per session. We encourage that you apply immediately to guarantee your student’s participation in this program. The deadline to accept your application is June 22, 2012.

Due to a severe budget cut of funding previously offered to CI/SDSU, this program may be cancelled or combined into one session if a minimum count of 15 students is not met for each session. We will announce on June 26, 2012 the reality of the program sessions.

For more information please contact the Confucius Institute at 619-594-4791 or by email at CISDSU@gmail.com. Download the application and waiver form at http://confucius.sdsu.edu/courses.html.